

Uponor PEX-a Plumbing Solutions Provide Safe, Clean and Healthy Systems for Homes and Businesses Across the Globe

150 words

An Uponor plumbing system features Engel-method crosslinked polyethylene (PEX-a) flexible tubing for the fastest, easiest installations with the highest durability and the greatest reliability in residential and commercial plumbing applications. Uponor's AQUAPEX® tubing offers several benefits to everyone from the installer and builder to the home and business owner. It features a tight bend radius for the least amount of connections and reduced liability; it resists scale buildup as well as corrosion, pitting and scaling; it dampens rushing water noise, eliminates water hammer and singing pipes, retains more heat in hot-water lines and resists condensation on cold-water lines.

Uponor plumbing systems are also the perfect solution for homes and businesses looking for an economical plumbing alternative to the skyrocketing costs of copper. And best of all, Uponor PEX plumbing systems are ideal for areas with aggressive water issues, where copper systems fail.

Additionally, Uponor backs its PEX plumbing system with a 25-year limited warranty when installed by an Uponor-trained plumbing professional, for added confidence and peace of mind. For more information about Uponor PEX plumbing solutions, visit www.uponor-usa.com or call (800) 321-4739.
